Friends Helping Friends

Meet The Experts from Bhutan, Burma, Thailand & Viet Nam & Learn about the Newest Trend in Travel—Global VolunTourism.

Four Global VolunTourism experts will travel to the United States to introduce their countries and discuss Global VolunTourism opportunities there. Learn how you can volunteer your time and share life-skills as part of your next vacation—enrich your experience and expand the knowledge of your host community, its people and you.

Global Spectrum Travel Company

(specializing in travel to Southeast Asia since 1992)

Global Community Service Foundation

(the philanthropic arm of Global Spectrum)

are proud to bring you:

- Myat Min (Min Min) Maung, a Burma travel guide and Global Community Service Foundation (GCSF) in-country representative, will provide an update on the country post-Cyclone Nargis and discuss its current VolunTourism needs.
- Dang Chien Thang, chairman of Huong Viet Travel Company in Viet Nam and a GCSF special advisor, will speak about how the country embraces VolunTourism and will highlight some of the well-established and new projects.
- Prasop Tipprasert, director of the Mahout and Thai Elephant Development Education College in Lampang, Thailand, will discuss a special program that brings together children with autism and elephants.
- Tashi Tobgay, founder of Yana Expeditions, a Bhutan adventure travel company, will introduce a country where "Gross National Happiness" means more than gross national product and explain its VolunTourism possibilities.
